Periodically, Hunterdon County conducts a Youth Risk Behavior Survey (YRBS) among high school students in Hunterdon County. The survey, developed by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), asks students to provide information about nutrition, physical activity, injuries, tobacco, alcohol and other drug use. It will also ask about sexual behaviors that can cause pregnancy as well as transmit HIV and other sexually transmitted diseases. The results of the survey will be used to inform and guide the Partnership for Health and school officials on how best to direct their efforts to have the greatest impact in promoting the health and well-being of our youth.
